2. Main Regulatory Provisions

2.1. Principles for PD Collection and Processing

The Company shall ensure observance of the principles for PD collection, processing and protection, established by Law.

PD collection and processing shall be done on a legal and just basis and shall be limited to achieving specific, pre-defined and legal goals and tasks. Redundancy of processable data is not allowed. When processing PD, accuracy of PD must be ensured, their sufficiency, and if necessary, also relevance in relation to the goals of PD processing. The Company shall store PD in a form allowing determination of the PD subject not longer than required by the goals and tasks of PD processing, and shall destroy PD when the goals of their processing have been reached or if there is no need to achieve these goals, if not otherwise specified by federal law.

Processable PD shall be destroyed or depersonalized when the processing goals have been achieved or if it is not necessary to reach these goals, if not otherwise specified by the Law of this Policy.

2.2. Goals of PD processing

The Company shall process the PD of PD subjects for the following purposes:

1) Allowing the PD subject to interact with the Website, including providing access to Website personalized resources, to Websites or services of the Company partners pursuant to the User Agreement;

2) Establishing ties with the PD subject, including to provide them with information about services rendered, by sending notifications, requests and information concerning rendering services and/or execution of current agreements, as well as processing requests and applications from the PD subject;

3) Rendering services, entering into and executing agreements and contracts with customers (potential customers);

4) Improving the quality of rendered services and their convenient use, developing new services (sending to the PD subject via information communication systems, sms, e-mail and other information communication devices about special offers, new services, events, any information reports, including advertising and other information in the name of the Company or in the name of the Company's partners);

5) Fulfilling legislation requirements;

6) Conducting statistical and other studies based on depersonalized data, conducting inquiries and studies to detect satisfaction/dissatisfaction of the customer with the Company's services and improving service quality.

2.3. Categories of Collectable and Processable PD

The Company shall process the following PD categories:

1) PD of an individual user of the Website that they transmit independently: name, address, e-mail, address (country, city, street, house number, apartment number), telephone number, as well as that transmitted automatically by the Website and services during their use: information about the browser used (or other program used to gain access to the Website), data of the cookie file, location, IP-address, Internet pages requested, entry source to the Website and other similar information.

2) PD of a legal entity customer (potential customer) whose PD has become known to the Company because of entry into and execution of a contract: full name, data of identity document, address (country, city, street, house number, apartment number), e-mail address, telephone number (home, mobile), taxpayer identification number;

3) PD of an individual whose PD were obtained by the Company from the Customer of services under the courier services contract: full name, data of identity document, address (country, city, street, house number, apartment number), e-mail address, telephone number (home, mobile), taxpayer identification number;

4) PD of other subjects transferred to the Company by other individuals based on contracts entered into and/or consent to collect and process PD. The Company shall not collect and process PD of customers concerning race, nationality, political views, religious or philosophical convictions, state of health and intimate life.

The Company shall not verify the reliability of the personal information provided by the subject and shall not be able to evaluate their competence. However, the Company shall proceed from the fact that the user provides reliable and sufficient personal information and maintains this information in an up-to-date state.

3. Procedure and conditions for collecting and processing PD

3.1. Methods for Obtaining PD of a Subject

PD of a PD subject shall be collected and processed by the Company with the Subject's consent or of their legal representative. The Company is allowed to collect PD of Customers through:

- personal reporting by the subject of their data (provision of documents) when drawing up the delivery in the office;
- entry by the subject of their data in any section of the Website;
- the PD subject completing marketing sheets (coupons);
- third parties (customers, contractors);
- public sources.

3.2. Procedure for a Subject Consenting to PD Collection and Processing

PD processing consent may be given by a subject (or their legal representative) in writing, as an electronic document, through a PD safeguarding service or another method using protective elements that do not contradict applicable legislation. If the PD subject enters their data on the Website, consent to PD processing shall be considered the submission by the PD subject by their taking the following implied actions in total: by pressing the button when compiling an order, entering a special sign - "check mark" or "web-marker" in the special field on the Website when compiling an order, ordering a return call, contacting as feedback, completing a questionnaire for entering into a contract.

These actions shall be evaluated clearly as acceptance of the User Agreement terms and conditions and consent to PD processing in the scope, for the purposes and per the procedure specified in the text (text "Consent" - Appendix No. 1 to this Policy) specified in the special sign for reading the text suggested before submission.

If the PD subject fills out marketing sheets, consignment delivery notes, other documents by signing, the PD Subject shall consent to accepting the Public Offer terms and conditions stated in the Courier Services Contract and Remuneration Regulation posted on the Website, which also means consent to PD processing.

If PD are obtained from third parties (customers, contractors), the obligation to obtain consents to PD processing and transfer shall be placed on these third parties.

If PD are obtained from public information sources, no consent is required from the PD subjects.

Consent shall be considered received from the time of entering the special sign (signature) and shall be valid until the PD subject sends the relevant statement of termination of PD processing at the location of the Operator. If there is no consent from the Subject to process their PD, such processing shall not be done.

3.3. PD access and confidentiality

The Company during its activity shall entrust PD processing to third parties with the consent of the PD subjects, with the mandatory condition that the individual processing the PD on the instructions shall observe the processing principles and rules and also safeguard the PD.

The list of individuals allowed to collect and process PD shall be determined by the instructions of the Executive body and internal local regulatory acts of the Company. Before starting work, these individuals must be familiar with the provisions of applicable PD legislation, including requirements for the PD protection procedure; with documents defining the Operator's actions regarding PD collection and processing, including this Policy; with local acts on PD collection and processing issues.

Access to PD of PD subjects shall be given to the Operator's employees in accordance with their official duties. The Operator's employees processing the PD of PD subjects must be informed about such processing, about the features and rules for such processing established by the regulatory legal acts and internal documents of the Operator. The Company employee entitled to process PD of PD subjects shall be given a unique login and password to duly access the relevant information system. Information about the identifiers assigned to the Employee (login and password) shall be confidential and cannot be communicated by the Employee to third parties. The Employee shall ensure compliance with the confidentiality requirements and shall bear the risk of the consequences related to violation of such requirements. The authentication procedure shall be conducted by the employer's technical center when the employee accesses the information system by comparing the entered login and password with the relevant login and password assigned to the employee, information about which is contained in the information system. If the authentication procedure is passed successfully, the Employer shall be able to perform operations with the PD of the PD subject in the information system. The Company shall not post the PD of PD subjects in public sources.

3.4. PD Accumulation and Storage

PD shall be accumulated by collecting the PD necessary and sufficient to perform the tasks to be done by the owner and (or) operator, as well as by a third party.

PD of the PD subject, whose processing goals vary, shall be stored separately within the information system, or if stored on storage drives, within the structure of business of the Operator's relevant division.

PD of the PD subjects shall be stored by the Company in a form allowing determination of the PD subject.

The PD storage periods shall not be longer than as required by the goals of PD processing, if the PD storage period has not been established by law, contract or defined by the terms and conditions of consent to PD processing (Appendix No. 1 to this Policy), or before the time of statement by the User of their desire to recall the consent for PD collection and processing. The PD shall be blocked on the Website based on a written statement from the PD subject.

The PD subject shall be entitled to demand in writing the destruction of their PD if the PD are incomplete, outdated, unreliable, obtained illegally or are not necessary for the stated purpose of the processing. If it is not possible to destroy the PD, the Operator shall block such PD.

PD shall be destroyed by erasing information using certified software with guaranteed destruction (in accordance with the assigned characteristics for the established software with guaranteed destruction).

3.5. PD Protection

When collecting and processing PD, the Company shall take all requisite legal, organizations and technical measures to protect the PD from illegal or accidental access to them, destruction, modification, blocking, copying, submission and dissemination of PD, as well as from other illegal actions. A person responsible for arranging PD processing shall be appointed in the Company.

PD shall be safeguarded, in particular:

- by appointing a person responsible for arranging collection and processing of PD;
- approval by the Company of this Policy, local acts on issues of PD collection and processing, as well as local acts establishing the procedures aimed at preventing and detecting violations of legislation and elimination of the consequences of such violations;
- by taking legal, organizational and technical measures to safeguard PD pursuant to applicable legislation;
- by internal monitoring of compliance of PD collection, processing and storage with the Law and regulatory legal acts adopted in accordance with it, with this Policy and local acts of the Company;
- by familiarizing the operator's workers (employees) directly collecting, processing and storing with the PD legislative provisions, including requirements for PD protection, this Policy, local acts on PD collecting, processing and storing issues and (or) training workers (employees).

3.6. Processing Requests by PD Subjects

To ensure observance of the rights of PD subjects established by law, the Company has developed and introduced a procedure for working with appeals and requests from PD subjects, as well as a procedure for providing PD subjects with information established by PD legislation.

The request from a PD subject must contain the number of the main document identifying the PD subject or their legal representative, information about the date of issue of the indicated document and its issuing body, information confirming the participation of the PD subject in relationships with the Company (contract number, date of entry into the contract, conventional word designation and (or) other information), or information otherwise confirming the fact of PD processing by the Company, signature of the PD subject or their representative, and date of contact.

The Company workers shall not have the right to answer questions related to transfer or disclosure of PD by telephone or fax because in such a case it is not possible to identify the accessing person.

Requests from subjects must be sent to: 404/67 Seyfullina Prospekt, Almaty, Republic of Kazakhstan, 050004.

3.7. Cookie

The Company shall use the "Cookie" automatic data collection system. Cookie is a set of information to be transmitted by the server to the browser and to the User's device such as the user's IP-address and other information referring to the user's data traffic or to the user's preferences when navigating on the Website. Permission for using Cookie is necessary to use the Website and its services, including ordering services. The data shall be processed in a collective and depersonalized form and shall not contain information about personal data, but shall allow the User to connect to their personal information reported by the User on the Website.

The User shall voluntarily provide information that is transferred automatically to the Company during use of the Website by using the software installed on the User's device, Yandex.Metrika metric programs, including IP-address, Cookie information, information about the User's browser, device type, geolocational data of the User's device, data about the User's actions on the Website, time of visiting the page, information about Internet resources used to transfer to the Website. This information is needed for the Website functioning, re-targeting and statistical studies and surveys.

These data shall be collected by the Website during the Cookie navigation process directly and automatically within the operational functions and shall not be used to identify the personal data subject.

The majority of browsers are able to delete Cookie after each session. Instructions on executing such deletion operation are found in the "Settings" section of the User's browser or in the reference information; the User can access it to delete Cookie.

If the procedure for Cookie deletion was launched completely or partially, the Company cannot guarantee that the Website pages and/or rendering certain services on the website will functional properly.
